

POLINA

- Yellow Submarine

A whimsical, surreal anthem sung by Ringo Starr, celebrating carefree life under the sea; beloved for its childlike charm and vivid storytelling.

- Love Me Do

The Beatles' debut single, blending harmonica and simple lyrics into a catchy tune that launched their legendary career in the early 1960s.

- She Loves You

Known for its "Yeah, yeah, yeah!" chorus, this energetic track became a cultural phenomenon and marked a turning point in Beatlemania.

- Ob-La-Di, Ob-La-Da

A ska-influenced, bouncy tune about everyday life and love, highlighting Paul McCartney's fondness for cheerful storytelling and catchy nonsense phrases.

- Here Comes the Sun

Written by George Harrison, this hopeful, melodic song celebrates renewal and warmth after dark times, and remains one of the Beatles' most beloved tracks.

- Twist and Shout

A raw, high-energy rock cover famously featuring John Lennon's raspy vocals, it became one of their most electrifying early performances.

- Hey Jude

A heartfelt ballad written by McCartney to comfort Lennon's son, evolving into a cathartic singalong with one of rock's most iconic fade-outs.

- All You Need Is Love

Released during the Summer of Love, this anthem captures the 1967 spirit of peace, unity, and optimism with a simple but powerful message.

- "Hello, we bring you two unforgettable hits! The uplifting warmth of 'Here Comes the Sun' to the electrifying energy of 'Twist and Shout', these songs showcase brilliance—so get ready to dance!"
(POLINA)